

New visit visa application form launched in Bhutan

As part of a global rollout, a new online visa application form, Access UK, has launched in Bhutan for customers applying for a UK visit visa.

The new form will make it quicker and easier for customers to apply for their UK visa. Benefits include:

- A shorter form, with questions logically ordered based on customer feedback
- More local languages, although customers will need to provide their answers in English
- The application fee is displayed in the correct local currency
- Customers can apply, book their Visa Application Centre (VAC) appointment to give biometrics, and pay for the relevant service standard seamlessly
- The service is available on mobile devices
- The form can pre-populate a Schengen Visa application form which customers can then download and print. This makes it much easier for customers applying for both visas at the same time.

Following the successful launch of Access UK in China in June 2014, UKVI is rolling it out globally to customers applying for a Standard Visitor Visa, Visitor (Marriage & Civil Partnership), or Visitor (Permitted Paid Engagement) Visa.

Access UK is available at www.gov.uk/apply-uk-visa. However the Visa4UK website will continue to be available for visitors and for applicants applying visas on other routes.
